About the Book | Algorithms of Oppression

Data discrimination is a real social problem; Noble argues that the combination of private interests in promoting certain sites, along with the monopoly status of a relatively small number of Internet search engines, leads to a biased set of search algorithms that privilege whiteness and discriminate against people of color, specifically women of color.

[PDF] Algorithms of Oppression: How Search Engines

Algorithms of Oppression is a text based on over six years of academic research on Google search algorithms. Noble argues that though algorithms themselves may not be racist, they can reflect the biases and values of the people who create them.

Algorithms of Oppression - Wikipedia

Part of the challenge of understanding algorithmic oppression is to understand that mathematical formulations to drive automated decisions are made by human beings. While we often think of terms such as "big data" and "algorithms" as being benign, neutral, or objective, they are anything but.
